

5 inspiring houses open for you to visit
2 houses designed by Boyd, 3 houses influenced by Boyd
Enjoy a walk around Studley Park passing many other exceptional houses

Robin Boyd is arguably Australia's most influential architect. Through his writings, he inspired the general community; through his architecture he was a leader in his profession. His own designs exceeded the expectations of his time; his design approach challenged his contemporaries and continues to inspire architects today.

Boyd advocated for good design. He promoted an innovative use of space, materials and structure to create a poetic solution that never failed to delight.

This is a special opportunity to experience Boyd's design legacy and appreciate for yourself its continuing relevance to the way we live today.

The Robin Boyd Foundation is pleased to host public viewings of 5 remarkable houses as part of a self-guided walk through the Studley Park area of Kew.

Booking details

This is a self guided walking tour of the Studley Park area in Kew.

A map showing the locations of all houses will be provided with your ticket. This map will include the locations of the 5 'open houses' as well as other notable houses that can be viewed from the street.

Tickets must be pre-purchased using this booking form. Tickets for individual houses will not be available. Book early as this event is expected to sell out – ticket numbers are limited.

The Haughton James, Lawrence, Guss and Wardle Houses will be open between 10.00am and 4.00pm for viewing at your leisure.

The McIntyre House will be accessible via guided tours hosted by the owner and Architect Peter McIntyre. On each tour Peter will introduce and explain his house and reminisce about his friendship with Robin Boyd. Tours will begin at the property entrance at 45 minute intervals. It is essential that you nominate your preferred McIntyre House tour starting time when booking your ticket.

Access to all houses will require people to be able to navigate significant numbers of steps.
